

A GUIDE FOR AMAZON SELLER CENTRAL BRANDS

How to scale profitably on Amazon Vendor in the UK.

What Amazon Vendor really is, the full picture of what it costs and requires, and how brands selling on Seller Central have moved to Vendor and grown, with the numbers to prove it.

The first-party route onto Amazon, and why sellers move to vendor.

On Seller Central you are a third-party (3P) seller: you list, you hold the stock, you carry the fees and the customer service, and Amazon is your marketplace. On Vendor Central you are a first-party (1P) supplier: Amazon buys your stock on a purchase order and sells it as its own, and you are paid like a wholesale channel. That single shift changes the economics and the experience of selling on Amazon.

	SELLER CENTRAL (3P)	VENDOR CENTRAL (1P)
Who sells to the customer	You do, on Amazon's marketplace	Amazon does, as first party
Who holds the risk & fees	You: FBA, storage, chargebacks, returns	Absorbed into the vendor relationship
How you get paid	Variable disbursements, reserves held	Predictable PO payment, Net 45 terms
Prime & Buy Box	Earned, listing by listing	Prime badge and Buy Box by default
Access to new accounts	Open to anyone	Closed: Amazon no longer issues them

What Vendor unlocks

The Prime badge on every product, Sold and Dispatched by Amazon, stronger Buy Box control, Subscribe & Save, Amazon Business (B2B), and no end-customer support to run.

Why sellers move to vendor

Predictable, wholesale-style PO payment, a route to scale without adding headcount, and first-party economics only available through Vendor.

IN SHORT

Seller Central gets you onto Amazon. Vendor is how established brands scale on it, profitably, with the platform working for them.

The full picture: every Amazon charge and requirement.

Vendor is powerful, and it comes with a defined set of fees and operational requirements. Here they are in full, so you can see exactly what running Amazon involves. The brands that scale profitably master all of this, or hand it to a partner who has.

Referral fees

A percentage of each sale, by category.

Fulfilment (FBA) fees

Pick, pack, and ship charges per unit.

Storage & overstock

Monthly storage, plus long-term and overstock penalties.

Chargebacks

Variable penalties for compliance and delivery issues.

Shortages & disputes

Deductions on remittance that must be reconciled.

Returns

Returns and refund handling to stay on top of.

Advertising & ROAS

Sponsored ads and DSP spend, and the efficiency of it.

GS1 barcodes & GLN

Registered Item and Case Pack barcodes for every product.

Brand Registry

Trademark-backed registration, needed before launch.

Compliance (SIOC)

Packaging, labelling, and ISTA-6 standards, or charges apply.

Fulfilment windows

Weekly POs fulfilled within days, booked through Carrier Central.

Listing & suppression

Issues that need a direct line into Amazon to resolve.

Content & A+ pages

Imagery, A+ modules, and Brand Store build and upkeep.

Forecasting & PO accuracy

Demand planning so orders are met without costly overstock.

THE REALITY

Vendor is complex, and parts of it are genuinely confusing. It is simply the work that success on Vendor requires, and every piece of it can be run for you by a specialist team.

One account, one fixed price, everything absorbed.

This is what Rosetta Brands does. We give a brand every part of the first-party upside without any of the operational load: your products trade through our established, Top 15 UK Vendor account, run by our specialist team who carry the fees, the compliance, and the day-to-day.

A Top 15 Vendor account

Your products trade under a Top 15 UK Grocery Vendor account, the kind Amazon no longer issues, with direct human Amazon contacts to resolve listing and delivery issues fast. Fifteen-plus years of vendor relationships sit behind every listing.

Everything absorbed

Vendor fees, chargebacks, shortages, storage, and returns leave your P&L. One weekly order into one fulfilment centre. You ship once, the job is done, and the financial risk of Amazon simply stops being yours.

One fixed price

The variable economics of Amazon become a single fixed price you sell at, paid on predictable Net 45 terms. You forecast this channel like any other wholesale customer.

Growth built in

AI-optimised advertising that lifts ROAS, plus category insight, forecasting, and NPD launch support. The channel is actively grown, week after week.

THE NET EFFECT

Amazon becomes a channel you simply sell into, at a price you set, paid on terms you can plan around.

"The biggest thing that Rosetta Brands brings to the table is the fact that they have the vendor account."

UK FMCG brand · trading under the Rosetta Brands vendor account

The cleanest win of all: from Seller to Vendor.

Moving from Seller Central to Vendor is the cleanest step change of all. In one move a brand gains the first-party channel, an operation run for them, and economics that only Vendor unlocks: margin recovered, growth accelerated, and the operational load lifted whole.

A protein bar brand, two years on Seller Central

After more than two years selling on Seller Central, this brand made the move to Vendor in November 2025 to unlock the growth waiting on the first-party channel. Within three months:

+119%

YoY growth, Jan 2025 vs Jan 2026

+550%

Subscribe & Save customer base

7.4

ROAS, sustained and improving

Top 5

Category position held

February 2026 outpaced the year before at the halfway mark: £119,568 in sales in the first two weeks, against £45,435 for all of February 2025. Zero missed collections or delivery windows protected availability and search visibility, and the brand unlocked Amazon Business, Germany, and Ireland, diversifying its revenue.

What the move unlocked

The first-party channel with Prime and Buy Box by default, Subscribe & Save at scale, and Amazon Business, Germany, and Ireland all opened up.

How it runs now

One weekly order, fulfilled on time every time, a fixed and predictable margin, and the whole operation run by the Rosetta Brands team.

"We couldn't be more excited about our growth to date and the potential going forward, both in the UK and in Europe."

Founder · premium snack brand, moved from Seller Central to Vendor

We don't just manage Amazon. We are your Amazon account.

Rosetta Brands is the UK's only Vendor-as-a-Service for consumer brands. Your products trade under our Top 15 UK Grocery Vendor account, the first-party status Amazon no longer issues, while we run the channel end to end: the fees, the compliance, the fulfilment, and the advertising. You get enterprise-grade Amazon access and predictable, wholesale-style payment, without building the team or carrying the risk.

£100M+

Generated for our clients

958+

UK brands managed

100+

Amazon Best Sellers

15+ yrs

Amazon experience

A FEW OF THE BRANDS WE TRADE FOR

See what Vendor looks like for you.

A clear read on the opportunity for your specific products and category, and an honest view of whether Vendor is the right move for you. If it is, we will show you exactly what the move looks like, step by step.

info@rosettabrands.com | +44 (0)333 344 8171 | www.rosettabrands.com